

IN MEMORIAM

Jon Sherbun

Jon Sherbun, LCSW-C, BCD, CP, passed away on 9/23/15 after a courageous battle with cancer.

Jon was a student of the Holy Cross Seminary at University of Notre Dame before attending The Catholic University of America, earning a Master's in Social Work. He studied Psychodrama at St. Elizabeth's Hospital before taking a position at Psychological Services, Inc. in Annapolis, MD. While at PSI, Jon developed and implemented a drug and alcohol outpatient treatment program. Many years later, he joined Behavioral Health Associates as a private practitioner. His areas of expertise included addictions and behavioral compulsive disorders and relapse treatment, dual diagnosis, trauma, ADHD, mood disorders, stress and anger management, adult children of alcoholics and codependency, family and couples therapy, and coping with medical disorders (self and family members), with adult and adolescent populations. Jon was also trained in hypnosis, and incorporated a holistic and spiritual orientation, when desired by the client. Jon lived life fearlessly and faithfully, and will be long remembered for his strong will and commitment.

As Pat Connealy so lovingly stated, "He was one of those special people in this field who loved what he did and yearned to learn more. He was a therapist's therapist. Funny, empathic, genuine, kind, spiritual and a true believer in the healing process. Jon was extremely gifted as a therapist and had great concern for his clients right up to the end. He will be sadly missed, but left a legacy in souls he helped heal who in turn will help others. His spirit lives on."
